Saturday Is Holiday For State

SAN FRANCISCO "GOES NATIVE" HERALDING FAIR PREMIERE

Costumes For Citizens, "Mining Camp" Fronts For Business Houses Appear In Spontaneous Outburst; A Few Die-Hards Still Shave

Saturday is a general state holiday in California by Proclamation of Governor Olson, honoring the opening of the Golden Gate International Exposition at Treasure Island. Under the statute, closing of offices is not compulsory on such a holiday but the proclamation is permissive.

Placerville Branch of the Bank of America will be closed. County offices may close under the law if departmental chiefs desire to observe the day as a holiday.

A consensus of business men of the county seat is being sought so that their attitude toward the day may be publicly announced. SAN FRANCISCO, (UP)—San Francisco, which nominally prides itself in its "sophistication," found to its surprise today that it had reverted to type in a "hellzapoppin'" four day preview to the opening of its $50,000,000 world's fair.

Residents who formerly took a certain smug pleasure in referring to their city as the "New York of the West" blossomed out in beards,

"MUSIC NIGHT" PROGRAM TOLD

H. S. Band To Use Proceeds Of Concert To Purchase And Maintain Uniforms

Ten different instrumental numbers, a vocal solo and a tap-dancing specialty are included in the program for "Music Night" at the high school auditorium Wednesday evening, when the high school band presents a concert which, it is intended, will be the first of a series of similar concerts to be given each year.

The proceeds of this and the subsequent annual entertainments to be given by the band will be used for the purchase of uniforms and for their upkeep.

The band of the school this year is the largest in several years, numbering nearly forty pupils, and its members and the student body generally are determined that the band shall continue to compare favorably with similar organizations from other nearby schools.

Tickets for the evening, 40 cents for adults and special rates for high school and grammar school pupils, have been on sale in the care of band members for several weeks and from the number of tickets sold it is indicated that there will be a near capacity audience in attendance when the concert opens at 8 o'clock Wednesday evening.

Mrs. L. T. Cook will assist the band in the program with a group of vocal solos and a tap-dancing specialty also will be presented. The ten instrumental numbers will include a cornet solo by Leonard Cichini, "There's a Gold Mine in the Sky," and a quartet number by the baritone, trombone, horn and trumpet from the brass section.

The band numbers will be as follows:

Sousa's "Washington Post" march; overture, Footlights," by Holmes; March, "Hi-Lo," from Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs; march, "Alexander's Rag Time Band," by Irving Berlin; a medley of "popular standard favorites" by Feist; overture, "Knappolls," by Richards; and the march, "Field Tactics," by Holmes.

Germany Launches New 35,000-Ton Warship

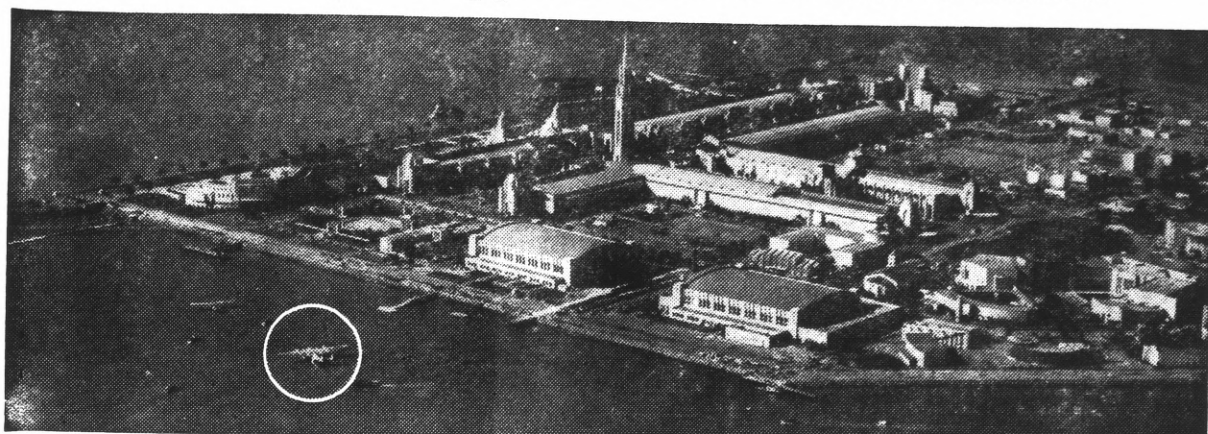

HAMBURG, (UP)—Germany announced to the world today its bid for "blue water" naval power as its first 35,000 ton battleship of the post war period—named Blismarck for the man who built modern Germany—slid down the ways into the Elbe.

Western Man May Get High Court Post

WASHINGTON, (UP)—Administration and congressional quarters today expected President Roosevelt to appoint a westerner to fill the Supreme Court seat vacated by Justice Louis Dembitz Brandeis. There was no hint of White House plans.

Farrell Whinn, of Auburn, secretary of the Placerville National Farm Loan Association, was a business visitor in Placerville on Tuesday.

74-Passenger Clipper Lands at Treasure Island

THE WORLD'S LARGEST AIRPLANE, a 74-passenger transport lately completed at the Boeing factory in Seattle, lands at the Port of Trade Winds, off Treasure Island, preparatory to being moved to the Palace of Transportation, where it will be a feature of the California World's Fair. The landing of the plane is pictured above with the big ship in a circle, so you won't confuse it with the clipper ship, a little above and to the left. The 74-passenger ship is one of two recently completed, one for trans-Atlantic service and this one for Pan-American's trans-Pacific route. On the back page another photo gives a hint of the great size of the new plane.

Art Gallery Closed; Will Re-Open Soon

The "art gallery" at the sheriff's office is closed temporarily but will be re-opened at earlier date in larger and more convenient quarters.

That's by way of saying that all of the "wanted" circulars, asking the sheriff to look for scores of people who are "wanted" for almost everything beginning with amnesia and winding up with murder, have been taken off the wall of the sheriff's office preparatory to moving to the new office in the basement of the courthouse.

It was indicated that the new order of things may date from this coming weekend, when the sheriff's office will be in the basement and the office of County Surveyor Don Hoffman, heretofore in the basement, will be on the main floor of the courthouse in quarters now occupied by the sheriff.

Range Program Meeting Set

1939 Plans To Be Told At Conference Called For February 20th

By B. E. HASLAM

Secretary, Cons. Association

There will be a meeting at the Farm Advisor's office on February 20 at 1:30 p. m. to which all range men of El Dorado County are invited to acquaint themselves with the provisions of the 1939 range conservation program. Applications will be accepted at that time. Men who were not in the program in 1938 should have with them an accurate legal description of their property, both owned and leased if they desire to enter the 1939 program. Any operator who was in last year and who has changed his acreage through purchase, sale or lease, should be able to furnish the legal description of acreage changed.

Practices included for a benefit payment this year are: deferred grazing, artificial reseeding, contour or furrowing, spreader dams and terraces, reservoir for stock water, terraces, reservoirs for stock water, for stock water, development of springs, and fire guards.

It will be extremely helpful if range men will determine as far as possible what they need of the above practices and where they need them on the ranching unit. These can be spotted on the map for consideration of the county committee by reviewing them for approval. New men should have a map of the ranch, showing fences, roads, streams and other water developments, to present their application.

Deferred grazing for this vicinity starts not later than March 15. There are very definite rules governing that practice this year, and range men should make certain that they understand them before going ahead with their plans for that project. Supplemental practices to deferred grazing include the fencing, rodent control, extension of pipe lines, weed control, and others.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Salvaer returned Monday to their home at Auburn following a weekend visit with the latter's mother, Mrs. Edith Miller.

TREE FRUITS HEARING SET

Seven-Point Federal Market Plan To Be Revived February 27

Marketing plans for the coming season embodied in a seven-point Federal agreement program will be considered by California's deciduous tree fruit growers and shippers at a public hearing opening February 27 at 9:30 a. m. in the Native Sons Building auditorium at Sacramento.

Applicable to interstate shipments of fresh Bartlett pears, plums, peaches, apricots and cherries, the proposed program was developed under the Federal Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937 by statewide committees of growers and shippers who also requested the government hearing.

Main points of the proposed program, which is designed to effect more orderly marketing and improve producers' returns, include the following:

- (1) Limitation or prohibition of interstate shipments by designated grades and sizes with limited exceptions for a grower who, because of grade and size regulations, cannot ship as large a portion of his crop as the average shipped by all growers in the same district;
- (2) Prohibition of unfair trade practices in packing peaches and pears;
- (3) Limitation of daily shipments from cold storage, railroad or shipping points;
- (4) Regulation of the quantity of fruit to be shipped or sold in specified market areas by limiting shipments to an "advisable quantity" which would be allotted proportionately among shippers;
- (5) Inspection of all interstate shipments during periods of grade and size regulation;
- (6) Establishment of shipment proration periods during which each grower and shipper would be allotted their proportionate share of total quantity of fruit to be shipped within the period;
- (7) Disposal of surplus fruit through a surplus pool to be financed by assessments against all shippers.

A control committee of 13 members representing growers and 12 members representing shippers would be charged with general administration of the plan.

Specific shipment regulations would be administered by commodity committees for each kind of fruit. The commodity committee for Bartlett pears would be comprised of 12 grower members. Each of the remaining commodity committees would be composed of 7 growers. Disposal of fruit placed in the surplus pool would also be handled by the commodity committees.

Following the public hearing and possible changes in light of evidence obtained, the proposed program will be submitted to the U. S. Secretary of Agriculture for tentative approval.

If tentatively approved, the market plan will be in effect.

In the first battle the American Legion goes against Texaco, which will be trying hard to get into the win column for the first time, and might stage an upset.

In the second battle of the night, the Forest Service meets Mosquito CCC camp in what has the prospect of being an endurance contest. Can the Forest Service, with a limited number of players, outrun the Mosquito CCC camp?

30 Days Holds No Sting For Tuolumne-ite

Most people would rather be out of jail than behind the bars, but a thirty-day jail term suggested Tuesday morning by Justice of the Peace T. F. Lewis was just to the liking of J. W. Scott.

Scott appeared to be so pleased, in fact, that Judge Lewis reconsidered and directed that the sentence might be suspended on condition that Scott leave town within the hour; although there appeared to be a suspicion that Mr. Scott had very definite objections to going "Scott free."

The charge arose out of his weekend drunkenness. He said he had come here from Tuolumne County, and it was suggested that he get himself home in a hurry and not be laying out 30 days in jail at the expense of the taxpayers of El Dorado County.

LEGION SONS ELECT NEW OFFICERS, PLAN FOR BEAN FEED

New officers are George Smith, captain; Eldon Green, adjutant; Cliff Swesey, first lieutenant; Charles Irish, second lieutenant; Henry Pierroz, chaplain; Philip Morton, sergeant at arms; and Jack Emerson, publicity officer.

Also present at the meeting were Lyle Smith, Jim Franklin, Milton Green, Marion Holman, Gene Eddy, James Varozza, George Varozza and Richard Reese.

Under the leadership of Paul Smith, the members are considering forming a drum and bugle corps and this is to be taken up again at the meeting next Monday night.

Tom Mooney Cancels Speeches; Ill

LOS ANGELES (UP)—Tom Mooney, pardoned labor prisoner, was confined today to the home of friends by a recurrent gall bladder ailment, for which he soon will undergo a major operation.

Mooney was stricken Saturday but his illness was not immediately announced. He cancelled a series of speaking engagements in behalf of Warren K. Billings, a co-defendant in the 1916 San Francisco Preparedness Day bombing, and for whose pardon Mooney has dedicated his efforts.

BELLS OF ST. PETERS TOLL AT BURIAL OF POPE PIUS XI

VATICAN CITY (UP)—The body of Pope Pius XI, sealed in a triple coffin, was laid reverently to rest in a crypt below St. Peter's Basilica today with the most solemn rites of mourning the liturgy of the Catholic church affords.

Behind the locked gates of the mother church of the Catholic world, its splendor dimmed by the black drapes of sorrow, several hundred dignitaries knelt while the church said farewell to its 261st pope.

P.T.A. ASKS FOOD GIFTS

Between 30 And 40 Free Lunches Served Daily At Local Grammar School

Placerville Parent-Teacher Association has issued a call for donations of canned fruit, to be used for lunches at the grammar school where, the association reports, between thirty and forty free lunches are served daily to children who are unable to pay.

Those who will contribute to this solicitation may leave their donations at the grocery store at the corner of Main and Coloma Streets, where they will be collected by members of the P. T. A. on Wednesday and Thursday of this week and taken to the grammar school.

An announcement by a P. T. A. committee-woman says:

"The Placerville P. T. A. is maintaining a lunch room at the grammar school. Any of the children may purchase their lunch and have a place to eat. (Ed. Note—the lunch room also is open to children who bring their own lunch, also to children who bring a portion of their lunch and purchase a hot dish.)

"There are many of the children in need of these warm lunches who do not have the money to pay for the food, therefore there are between thirty and forty free lunches served every day.

"The P. T. A. is asking for donations of canned fruit from the people who are anxious to see this good work continue.

"The boys at the Red & White store at Coloma and Main Street have offered to let the P. T. A. use one of their windows for a place where the fruit can be taken until it is moved to the grammar school. There will be ladies at the store Wednesday and Thursday to receive the fruit."

Return Of Tax-Delinquent Land To Assessment Roll Sought

State In 1938 Held 300,000 Deeds To Real Estate Paying No Taxes For From 5 To 60 Years; 303 Deeds Relate To Property In El Dorado County

Several hundred thousand pieces of privately owned or controlled delinquent tax properties which yield no tax return may be placed back upon the assessment rolls of California counties if the Legislature acts favorably upon recommendations contained in a voluminous report submitted by the State Planning Board Tuesday to Governor Culbert L. Olson and Director of Public Works Frank W. Clark.

The Planning Board's report is the result of an exhaustive investigation of the delinquent tax land situation in this state. One bill, designed to enact into law some of the principle recommendations of the board, already has been introduced in the Assembly by Assemblyman Leonard of Hollister, Weber of Stockton, Calsman of Palo Alto and Del Mutilo of San Jose.

In its report, the Planning Board points out that in 1938 the State of California held 300,000 deeds to real estate which has paid no taxes for from five to sixty years. Each deed represents from one to several hundred pieces of property. A conservative estimate is that these tax deeds represented 3,000,000 acres of land and 400,000 lots or blocks in subdivisions.

During 1933 a total of 64,243 pieces of California rural property with an area of 8,684,851 acres and an assessed valuation of $151,958,000 were tax delinquent. Uncollected property taxes amount to millions of dollars a year. During 1933 alone, real estate tax delinquency in California amounted to $30,000,000.

In its report the Board recommends that a general State policy regarding tax delinquent lands should be to:

(1) Present the counties with marketable deeds to all lands suitable for private ownership and capable of yielding enough income to warrant payment of local taxes.

(2) Remove from circulation all lands not suited for private ownership and not capable of yielding enough income to warrant payment of local taxes.

(3) Retain, after appropriate recompense to the county concerned, any land deemed specially desirable for state ownership.

The report deals with one of the state's more serious fiscal and land use problems. It represents nearly a year of research by the board and its staff and reflects the views of some twenty experts in taxation and land planning who served on a special Advisory Committee.

Major features of the measure introduced by Assemblyman Leonard and his colleagues are:

(1) Termination of the right of redemption after five years of continuous tax delinquency.

(2) Prohibition of action based on the alleged invalidity or irregularity of any tax deed after one year following its execution to the state.

(3) Institution of a permanent ten-payment plan for the redemption of tax delinquent property.

(4) Classification of all tax delinquent land held by the State as: (a) Suited for private ownership; (b) especially suited for public ownership, or (c) waste land.

(5) Distribution of tax delinquent land in accord with the classification: (a) Land suited to private ownership to be sold by the counties or cities, and returned to the tax roll; (b) Land especially suited for public ownership to be administered by appropriate public agencies; (c) Waste land to be held by the state until a use for it can be demonstrated.

The planning board announced that the state holds 303 deeds on El Dorado County property. Of this number, 125 are for tracts of more than forty acres in area and 111 are for smaller acreage while an additional 67 deeds are for subdivided lots and include also larger acreages which are incompletely described.

It is of black matelasse crepe, and its high draped neckline forms a fine background for a jeweled necklace. It closes in back with a zipper to the waist. An inserted flare in back of skirt only. Front is straight. Set in belt ties in a small bow in back. Bishop sleeves are quilted at the upper arm and the quilting is caught with tiny little jewel tone buttons in various colors.

"LAW OF UNDERWORLD," "FRESHMAN YEAR" EMPIRE FARE

Adventure, peril and romance combine to provide exciting entertainment in RKO Radio's thrill picture, "Law of the Underworld," with Chester Morris, Anne Shirley, Eduardo Ciannelli and Walter Abel, which tops the two-day bill opening Tuesday at the Empire.

The adventure and peril spring from the daring activities of a gang headed by Morris, who poses as a pleasure-loving society man, while his friend, Walter Abel, is appointed a special prosecutor to clean up the city from crookdom. The romance derives from a pair of youngsters, Ann Shirley and Richard Bond, who are compelled to take part in the mob's robberies and are subsequently trapped by Abel's men, at which point their fate suddenly rests in the hands of Morris. How he meets this responsibility is the high dramatic episode in the film.

A new film series which will, beyond doubt, enjoy great popularity, makes its local debut with the presentation of "Freshman Year."

The first of three more pictures of the same general type to be released by Universal during the current season, it is a delightfully stimulating and realistic comedy drama of college life, with an abundance of sparkle, wit, pathos and music. The story, as the title indicates, centers around a group of students in their freshman year.

The FARMERS CORNER

by RALPH H. TAYLOR

Executive Secretary
Agricultural Council of California

The so-called "Third House" of the State Legislature—composed of lobbyists, legislative representatives, irate rank and file citizens and all shades and types of spokesmen for California's varied interests and industries—has been a bone of contention in the two regularly constituted houses of the Legislature almost since the first roll was called back in the days of gold and cattle rustling.

And in the year 1939, the Legislature—stung by recent revelations of unsavory practices—is still trying to determine what to do about lobbyists.

As a consequence, dozens of bills have been introduced, and will be up for consideration when the lawmakers reconvene on March 6, which are avowedly designed to crack down on members of the so-called "Third House" and thereby put an end (theoretically, at least) to all that is questionable, corrupt or vicious in the halls and lobbies of the Legislature.

If history repeats itself, there will be a flurry of sensational headlines, reading: "Lobbyists Barred From Senate Chamber;" "Assembly to Compel Registration of ALL Lobbyists;" "Lobby Expense Accounts are Demanded," etcetera, et cetera. And some of the bills may even become laws, due to the back-wash of Grand Jury exposes and the efforts of certain lobbyists to jockey certain other lobbyists into tight spots where they will have difficulty in operating, but the unhappy fact remains that if the Legislature is stampeded into enacting such laws they will do far more bad than good.

The major fault is most of the lobby-reform-legislation is that it fails to distinguish between the legitimate and the corrupt—and fails utterly to place any effective curb on the dishonest lobbyist, who can operate in bars, hotel suites and private dining rooms, while placing drastic restrictions of representatives of legitimate enterprises and deserving public organizations who come to the Legislature, openly and honestly, to discuss legislative problems.

California agriculture has a vital interest in the lobbyist issue because hundreds of bills considered at each session of the Legislature have either direct or indirect bearing on the welfare of the farming industry. And agriculture—through the State Farm Bureau Federation, the Agricultural Council of California, the State Grange and the California Farmers Union—has its legislative representatives (some call them "lobbyists") constantly on duty at Sacramento during legislative sessions.

In fact, nearly every business and industry of any magnitude must, of necessity, keep a legislative representative at Sacramento, whether it wants to or not. Railroads, trucking companies, power companies, public ownership utilities, the timber industry, the mining industry, the grocer and the hardware dealer, the CIO, the AFL and the Railroad Brotherhoods—all have their representatives (and necessarily so) at Sacramento. The University of California, the California Teachers Association, the auto clubs, the various taxpayers associations, the P.T.A., women's clubs, the unemployed and the unemployables—all have spokesmen to talk to the lawmakers.

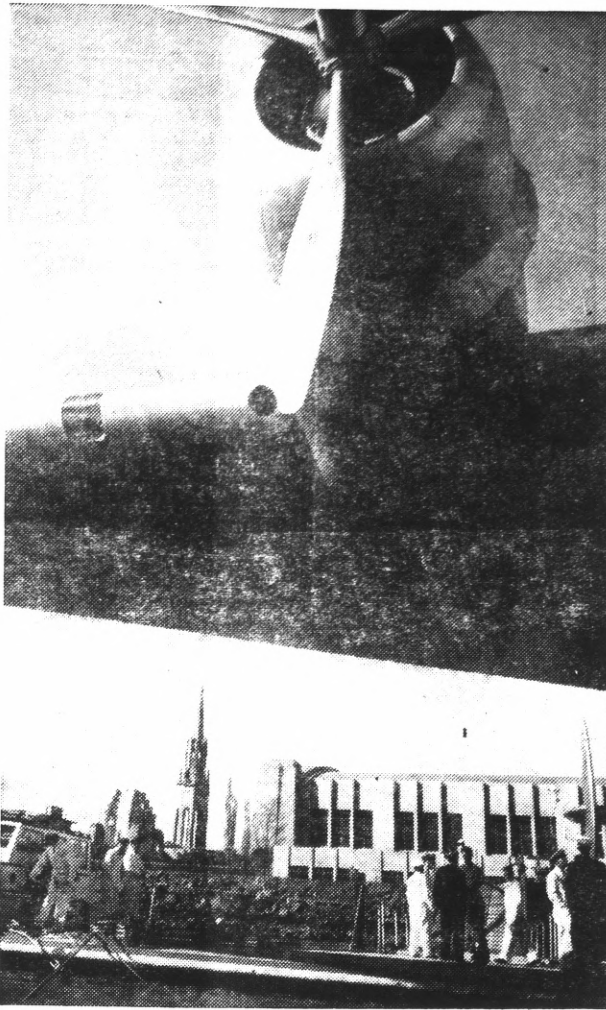

Many of these legislative representatives—or lobbyists, if you prefer that word—have aided in drafting some of the finest legislation on California's statute books. Virtually all of them furnish technical data and analysis to the legislators which are of inestimable value in securing sound, workable legislation. And it is safe to say that without the "Third House," the other two law-making houses would probably labor twice as long—and not half as effectively.

There are unscrupulous lobbyists, too, who, if reports are correct, have resorted to bribery and corruption—and undoubtedly there are far too many. But that type of lobbyist, with unlimited funds at his command, is seldom affected by anti-lobbyist legislation. He need never come near the legislative halls, nor register with legislative officials, for his most effective work is done in a hotel suite, or a cocktail bar, rather than before a committee or at a legislator's desk.

It was that type of lobbyist that prompted the following provision in the state constitution: "Any person who seeks to influence the vote of a member of the legislature by bribery, promise of reward, intimidation or any other dishonest means shall be guilty of lobbying, which is hereby declared a felony."

If that constitutional definition of lobbying is accepted, then every lobbyist should be jailed or run out of Sacramento. But in that event, the legislature will do well not to confuse legislative representatives—representing legitimate interests—with lobbyists and cinch bill artists.

The order may be issued upon approval of two-thirds of the growers voting, by number or by volume, of the fruit represented and signature by handlers of 50 per cent of the volume of interstate shipments of the fruit.

Immediately following final approval by growers and handlers and by the Secretary of Agriculture, the marketing agreement and order would become effective.

By HENRY McLEMORE

ABOARD S. S. MATSONIA. Somewhere in the Pacific—With all due modesty, I wish to announce that by nightfall on Wednesday I expect to be the talk of Honolulu. This liner lands at Honolulu Wednesday morning, and I intend wasting no time in showing off all the things Hawaiian that I have mastered since deciding to come on this trip.

I shall go immediately to Waikiki Beach, don me sea drawers, and demand the biggest and most treacherous surfboard available. I chuckle now when I think how surprised everyone will be when, after a triumph ride in on the biggest wave I tell them that I had never set foot on a surfboard before.

My secret is that before I left home I rigged up an ironing board on two pair of roller skates and practiced on it by the hour. By the time I sailed I could make it from the living room to the kitchen without getting a scratch on the furniture or me. To make the trial spins more realistic, I had my wife throw buckets of water on me as I whizzed by. So you can see that a real surfboard will hold no terrors for me.

Between workouts on my surfboard I practiced on the ukelele and I can now play "They're wearing 'em higher in Hawaii," the first two bars of "Yaka hulu hicka dula," the last part of "On the Beach at Waikiki" and the triumphal march from "Aida."

I am practicing constantly here on the boat and two or three of the Hawaiians among the passengers have assured me that they never heard anything quite like it. I am very confident that when I sit on the beach at Waikiki, and run through my repertoire, I will not regret the long hours of practice I put in.

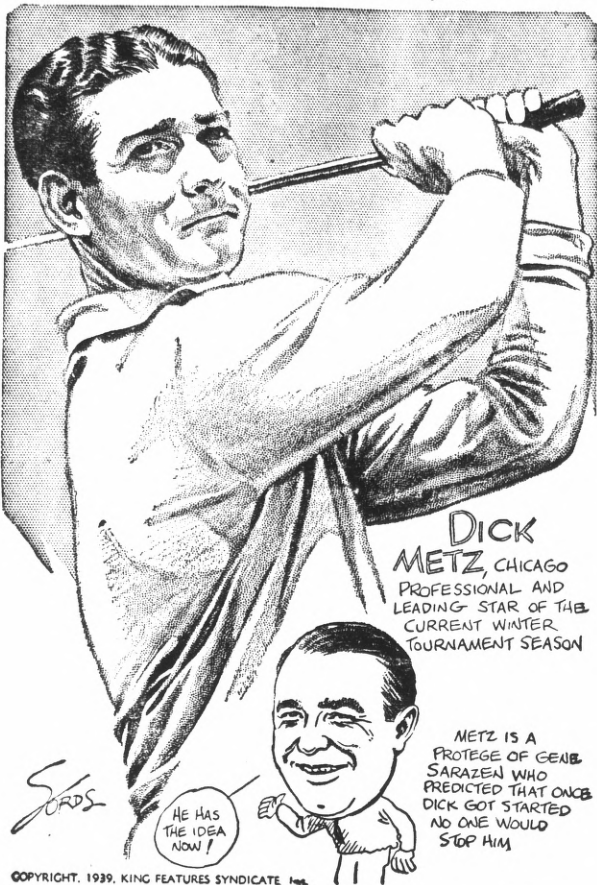

I must admit that learning the hula hula dance was a little more difficult for me than surf-boarding or ukelele playing. I learned through a correspondence school and although I followed directions to the letter I am not as good at it as I would like to be. The first time I danced it for a friend, he called a doctor and kept saying "There, there, old fellow," to me until the doctor arrived. I have since that performance improved, but I still have a tendency to break into a buck-and-wing toward the finish.

One of the unique forms of fishing in the Hawaiian Islands, I have heard, is spear fishing. I am prepared to be awfully good at that. By a fortune of coincidence, I spent last Sunday afternoon at the home of Irvin S. Cobb, who has a small cement pool full of goldfish. Using an umbrella for a spear, I practiced poking at the gold fish and while I never did score a direct hit I came close enough several times to prove to myself that I could have speared them if they had been larger, and had Mrs. Cobb not kept saying to me, "Henry, leave those fish alone."

The other passengers on the boat are idling away their time by lazing in the sun on the deck, swimming in the pool, and going to cocktail parties and dances while I, busier than a beaver with a new upper plate, am readying myself to enjoy Hawaiian life at the fullest.

They may sneer, now, when I careen down the deck on my ironing board, ukelele in hand, but they will live to hear me acclaimed.

festooned hats and shawls of early Spanish days. Without apparent prompting from the fair's publicity bureau, the costume urge seemed to grip the city.

Those who sneered "exhibitionists" at callow youths trying to grow beards found themselves in a rapidly dwindling minority. All but the diehards put away their razors, and if they had any prominence in the city they were likely to find themselves picked up for "posses" and held up to public scorn.

There were some who said the costume and the hilarity could be traced to a desire to get away from the realities of a world of politicians calling each other names and nations bristling for war. Whatever the reason it seemed to bring out the pioneer in the descendants of pioneers.

"Let's be ourselves and cut a daisy," seemed to be the sentiment. From all indications the day intervening before the fair opens officially to the world next Saturday will see "daisies" falling right and left. To "cut a daisy," is was explained, is another way of saying "anything goes."

A parade up Market Street officially set off the premiere. The Forest Service had three columns of pack mules, all bearing loads with regulation diamond hitches, on hand to give the gold rush touch. City officials, children, army forces, cowgirls and floats joined in after a blast of noise announced the start of festivities.

Late sleepers awoke to a shattering sound of factory whistles blowing, guns booming and sirens screaming. Grip men on the cable cars that scurry up and down the city's hills played tunes on their car bells with more than usual abandon. Neighborhood districts had special celebrations.

Fair officials proudly announced that arrangements had been made to have President Roosevelt open the fair in a broadcast from the U. S. S. Houston off Miami. They also said a key with jewels valued at $35,000 and weighing a pound and

History Unit Building Fund Passes $1,000 Mark

The building fund of the El Dorado County Historical Society has passed the $1000 mark it was revealed at a meeting of the society held in the Court House Monday night.

Activities of the solicitations committee over the past week-end added several more names to the list of contributors and thus placed the goal of $1200 much nearer today. A busy campaign will be carried on during the present week in an effort to complete the raising of the fund.

Just as soon as the total amount has been pledged, the building committee will immediately set to work to prepare the building for occupancy in the desire that it may be open to the public by April first.

HAWAII TRIP AWARD IN PUBLIC SPEAKING CONTEST

With a vacation trip to Hawaii as a reward for the winner, The California Crusaders' fourth annual public speaking contest for high school students of northern California started February 14. The theme is American Citizenship and the students are given an opportunity to discuss a wide variety of vital, interesting and varied topics.

"This contest," declared Samuel J. Hume, director of the Crusaders, a non-partisan organization, "is designed to encourage among the youth of California a deeper appreciation of the ideals, principles and obligations of American citizenship. It has the endorsement of educators, students, veterans and thinking men and women everywhere."

In addition to the Hawaiian trip, trophies and vacations at Camp Curry in Yosemite Valley and Aetna Springs will be awarded and other winners. Gold cups will be given to the other finalists. Silver cups will be presented to the students winning regional championships, while county winners will receive gold medals. Each student participating in the contest will receive an Honor Award bearing a stirring charge of citizenship.

Last year's contest, according to Hume, was a brilliant success. More than 15,000 students entered the competition and championships were established in 47 counties. The contest was won by Richard Egan of St. Ignatius High School, San Francisco.

Mr. Patricia Darlington returned Tuesday to duties in the district attorney's office, following absence of a few days owing to illness.

a half would unlock the gate at the fair site on Treasure Island in the middle of the bay.

But the city didn't seem to pay much attention to these matters or hopeful predictions that 20,000,000 persons would visit the fair before next December. They put on their costumes, shouted "Yippee-ki-yo" and saidlet New York put on another world's fair—out here the old West lives again.

For Underweights

May your shadow never grow less, is my wish for thin folks. Such may increase their weight by eating generously of milk, cream, butter, cooked cereals, bread, potatoes, bananas, fat meat, sweets, chocolate, cakes, pies and hearty foods.

The tragedy of it is that those who are too fat crave and eat of these foods while underweight people have slender appetites or prefer salads. To cultivate a good appetite, eat only at mealtime, exercise much in the open, keep free from infections in any part of the body, be calm and peaceful and not nervous and high strung. Plenty of sleep and good square meals will make almost anybody more plump.

Highway Patrol Sgt. Burwell Reynolds was up from Oakland on Tuesday.
